ANOTHER WONDERFUL CURE

—EFFECTED BY—

California Elastic Truss!

CHALFONIA E. T. C. TRUSS CO., W. J. Home

Proprietor.—Dear Sir: I feel that I owe it to you and to humanity to write the fact that I have been SUFFERING FROM A LIVER COMPLAINT, and I have been cured by the use of your California Elastic Truss, which I purchased from you three months ago. I can not describe the suffering, both physically and mentally, that I have undergone during that period; and now I feel like a new being. I have worn your Trusses, both Steel and Elastic, and never received any permanent relief until I tried yours. Its simplicity of construction, and facility with which it can be adjusted, and the ease and perfect freedom to the motions of the body with which it can be worn without causing any irritation, are its chief merits, and it is a perfect supporter. I have not had any sign of a return of the rupture since the first day I put it on, and feel that I am PERMANENTLY CURED. It is reliable, and the fact should be known to the world. You can refer anyone to me on the subject of its merits. I am truly yours, J. F. GIBBON, Chief Clerk S. F. Daily Evening Post.

RAILWAY MATTERS.

That the telegraphic synopsis of the Queen's Speech at the prorogation of the Imperial Parliament on Friday contains no reference to the Canada Pacific Railway has somewhat surprised local readers. It is known that the Canadian Premier and two other Ministers of the Crown were in England at the time of the prorogation and had been there for some time previously; and it was confidently expected by many that negotiations with the Imperial Government would have reached a definite form before the date of prorogation. But a previous dispatch as late as the 12th inst. informed us that an official announcement was made in Parliament to the effect that no proposition from the Canadian Government had been laid before the British Ministers. Anyone who has danced attendance upon a Parliamentary body when a session was drawing to a close, will appreciate the difficulties and obstacles that lie in the way of approaching a Minister or member on any "new business"—that is, business which has not been laid before the House at an early stage of the session, and for the consideration of which the Ministry and House had not been afforded time and opportunity. No one here should imagine that in a matter so grave as this railway project, which involves the expenditure of a sum of money approaching $100,000,000, with an Imperial guarantee of interest, time would not be required to enable the British Government to grasp the proposition in its details and bearings, to examine into the nature of the security offered and, above all, to study the effect of the adoption of the policy upon the British public. Simpler matters than a guarantee of interest have wrecked British Ministers in days gone by, and on the eve of a general election Ministers will be cautious lest they overload the taxpayer and encompass their own ruin. It is unreasonable, therefore, to expect the Imperial Government to accept unprepared the scheme of the Canadian Government, to adopt off-hand their railway policy as their own and to launch it without due preparation upon the House. Some time next month, at the earliest, we look for a report as to the result of the mission. Decision may even be delayed until October. It may be rejected altogether or adopted in part or in whole; or the money required for the construction of the transcontinental line may be obtained of British capitalists at a satisfactory rate of interest without troubling the British Government to guarantee a single dollar. We have authority for the statement that a syndicate of capitalists has been formed in London who profess to be able to find the money and to float the scheme. An Imperial guarantee of interest would cheapen the rate at which the money can be had, and bonds would sell at par which without a guarantee would be subject to a shave. vast sums are lying idle in England—cannot find employment at 2½ per cent. per annum. The Canadian Government offers 4 per cent., with the perfect security of 100,000,000 acres of land in the Fertile Belt. They hold out, as well, a home to the working classes of the Old World who are preparing to emigrate "anywhere, anywhere out of 'Great Britain.' Two hundred thousand English miners have formed an association for the purpose of emigrating to the United States.

But the success or non-success of the mission to England can have no influence on the commencement of railway construction within the province during the current year. The pledge to commence "this season" and "vigorously press" 125 miles of railway within the Province has no bearing on the railway policy of the Dominion Government as subsequently announced. It will be borne in mind that the Local Government and House were pledged to secede from Confederation if railway work was not begun in accordance with the Carnarvon Terms on or before May 1st, 1879. It was on the eve of the date fixed for secession that telegrams were received from Ministers at Ottawa assuring the House that a section of 125 miles of railway would be begun and vigorously prosecuted in the Province during the year, and the House, reposing confidence in that pledge, was prorogued on the 29th April. The telegrams laid before the House by the Premier and the Speaker read as follows:

OTTAWA, April 26th.
To Mr. Speaker Williams:—Canadian Government is determined to commence work of construction in British Columbia this season and to press it vigorously.
J. C. AIKENS.

OTTAWA, April 26th.
Hon. G. A. Walker:—The Canadian Government is determined to commence work of construction in British Columbia this season and to press it vigorously. The Secretary of State will telegraph Speaker officially.
JOHN A. MACDONALD.

The railway policy of the Dominion, as it concerns the entire line, was not brought before the House of Commons until the 14th of May, or sixteen days after the Ottawa Government had pledged themselves to begin work in British Columbia. Every one ought to sympathize with the Dominion Government in their present financial strait. Each year for the past five has witnessed a heavy deficit in the revenue and for any man or party to attempt now to hold the Dominion to the fulfilment of the terms upon which we entered Confederation would be to incur public indignation or ridicule. They are entirely impracticable in the "changed financial condition" of the Dominion. The Carnarvon Terms are equally impracticable; the country must be well aware of that fact. There remains, however, the promised section of 125 miles which is within the financial power of the Dominion to construct and "press vigorously." We wish now to point out that the working season is nearly over and that if a commencement is to be made "this season" it will have to be within the next thirty days. Before the engineers left Ottawa for this Province in May last 125 miles of road on the Butte Inlet route were prepared for contract. This official but reliable information has announced the probable condemnation of the Skeena River route, and it now remains for the Ottawa Government to select a route for the railway and begin construction. We presume that the Government at James Bay have had the forethought to remind the authorities at Ottawa that the season is slipping away and that the pledge is as yet unfulfilled. Should the 1st of October pass unimproved we fear that there will be a demand made upon the Local Government for a special session and consequences serious to the permanency of the Confederation may then ensue.

QUEBEC, Aug. 15.—The Ship Laborers' Society, 2,000 strong, marched through Lower Town intending to proceed to the "Coves." As they entered Champion street, the stronghold of a ship laborers' society from which they had seceded, a battle was begun. It was ended by the party falling back to Lower Town. Several men were wounded by pistol shots and others badly beaten. One man is reported dead. The Frenchmen being repulsed the old society gathered in groups and expressed a determination to keep them out of the street. Two cannon were in position at Kincher's wharf and one at Martin's. The men were well armed with revolvers, boat-hooks and axes. Blood on the sidewalks showed where the wounded fell. The men were warned by the chief of the water police not to advance, but they persisted. While retreating after their defeat they turned occasionally to fire upon their assailants. When the procession rallied they went to Cape Blanc and sacked three houses occupied by Irish. Hardware stores were robbed of fire arms and six or seven guns were taken from a store on Faberge street. All the shops in Lower Town and on Mountain Hill have shutters up. It has been remarked that there were not 50 ship laborers in the line of procession. A war of races seems to have begun. Pierre Giroux is the only person reported killed. A dozen men were known to be wounded seriously by bullets.

EVENING.—A meeting of French Canadians was held at the Jacques Cartier Market Hall in the afternoon at the close of which they assembled on the plains to the number of 1800 and were armed with rifles, shotguns and revolvers. A rush was made for the city and principal streets. The St. Louis suburb was invaded, the crowd howling and firing as they ran. The Irishmen of the Coves are said to be in motion and the crowd is dispersing. The volunteers will be called out. Bloody work is expected.

Memphis, Aug. 15.—Fourteen cases were reported to the Board of Health to-day, eleven of which are colored. As additional precaution guards have been placed on streets leading into Chelsea to prevent communication between that wealthy suburb and infected portions of Memphis. PACIFIC COAST.
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15.—The Alaska Commercial Co.'s steamer St. Paul, from Ounakaska, reports that the Arctic exploring yacht Jeannette arrived there on August 2nd, and would sail for St. Michaels on Aug. 6th. All well on board. The brig Timandria, from this port on a sealing expedition, was wrecked on Mouniak Island on May 20th. All hands saved.

Amongst the passengers by the St. Paul from Ounakaska were Col. H. G. Otis, and J. H. Moulton, of the U. S. Treasury Department, who have been making a tour of the seal islands in the interest of the department. They report that the revenue cutter Richard Rush had been through Behring Straits, within 300 miles of Wrangel Land and within 75 miles of East Cape, near which Prof. Nordenskjold is supposed to be frozen in. Her officers report the sea to the northward clear as far as visible with no signs of ice. The season in the Arctic regions has been unusually favorable for exploration. The winter was warm and the ice broke up early. Lieut. DeLong, of the Jeannette, hopes to reach Wrangel Land before the ice closes again and intends to winter there. There is some question as to his reaching there early enough, as on the way up the Jeannette will visit the coast in the vicinity of East Cape in search of tidings of Prof. Nordenskjold. The report of his escape is not credited at the North; no news to that effect has been received at Ounakaska or St. Michaels, and those on board the Richard Rush could get no information concerning him.

THE BRITISH COLONIST IS THE ONLY PAPER PUBLISHED IN BRITISH COLUMBIA THAT RECEIVES TELEGRAPHIC DISPATCHES. ITS VALUE AS A NEWS AND VERTISING MEDIUM IS THEREFORE APPARENT.

Fearsfully Sudden Death.

At a quarter to 9 o'clock last night Samuel Whitley, proprietor of the Victoria Lodging House, Johnson street, fell down, apparently in a fit, on the corner of Government and Johnson streets. He was at once picked up by passers-by and conveyed to the Omnica saloon. Dr. Jackson, being quickly in attendance, ordered that the unconscious man, who was still breathing, be removed to his home. He was immediately conveyed there, but died of heart disease within five minutes after he was taken ill. Deceased was a native of Islington, London, and aged about 40 years, leaves behind him a wife and two children.

SEIZURE FOR CUSTOMS LIES.—On Wednesday last the Collector of Customs at Nanaimo made a seizure of a new steel wire rope, some 3½ miles long, on which he had a claim of about $1000 for duties. It appears that the material was imported from England at a cost of $4000 for the aerial tramway at the Harwood coal mine, a short time previous to the colliery being closed. The rope was placed in bond on Cameron Island, but never used. It remained in bond safely until Wednesday morning when the owners of the aerial tramway, acting under orders from Mr. E. B. McKee, who has charge of the property at the Harwood mine, proceeded to place it on the vessel with the intention of transferring it to the steamship Empire for shipment to San Francisco. The Collector thereupon seized the rope and its contents, but on receiving information that the duty had been paid in this city ordered their release and the rope was shipped yesterday to San Francisco.

NEW WESTMINSTER DISTRICT.—The Grandview—Forest fires are burning out here and there in the vicinity, and fine patches of timber are being destroyed. We have not heard of any damage to private property so far. Crops of all kinds throughout the district are magnificent; the yield of grain and root crops bids fair to exceed any previous year. Mr. A. Ewen is once more busy with his entire establishment, canning the fine spring salmon which are running about a fair average at the present time. Mr. F. Eickhoff is progressing with his large new store now being erected on the corner of Begbie and Front streets. The Herald learns that Mr. E. Brown, M.P.P. for the city, has arrived at San Francisco on his way home.

MARINE.—The steamer Alexander returned to port yesterday afternoon, having towed to sea the ship Belvidere laden with V. C. Co's coal for San Francisco. Last night at 11 o'clock she left Royal Roads for Cape Flattery, having in tow the Am. ship Reporter, Capt. Geo. S. Wilson, laden with 2150 tons of Wellington coal for San Francisco. The bark Sierra Nevada completed her cargo of Wellington coal for San Francisco yesterday and was taken in tow by the steamer Beaver. The following vessels are on the way to load Wellington coal at Messrs. Dunsmuir, Diggle & Co.'s colliery: Ships Ericsson (fully laded) and Blue Jacket, barks Enoch Talbot, California and Revere.

THE STEAMER ENTERPRISE, having been detained by rough weather on the other side of the Gulf, did not arrive here until 7 o'clock last evening. She brought down the mail and following passengers:—J. A. Todd, Mrs. Warren, Mrs. Comos, Mrs. Papat, Mrs. Green, Mrs. Anderson, Miss Ward, Miss Nelson, Miss Smith, Miss Partridge, Miss Jones, Miss George, Miss Langley, Miss Jackson, Capt. Revelly, J. Beers, A. Beeton, F. Kays, Charles, E. Ferris, Jones, J. McDougall, Langley, Moresby, C. Ward, C. F. Warren, E. C. Johnston, W. Marvin, C. R. Brodie, G. Cox, W. Langley, Campbell, J. Sirr, Holden and P. Johnston.

FIRE FIRE ALARM SOUNDED yesterday afternoon was caused by the burning of a quantity of dry grass and brush in the vicinity of the residence of Mr. R. Ward and Mr. G. Manell. As the department was proceeding to the locality of the flames Isaac Roberts, who was seated in a cart and holding on to the rope of a horse-truck, fell to the ground. The truck passed over his legs but fortunately inflicted only slight injuries. The fire was extinguished before it had done any material damage.

Leyman; Venite 23; Psalms double 86; Te Deum 15; Benedictus 21; Anthem, "How beautiful upon the mountains;" Hymns 391, 412; Closing voluntary, Grand March by Borroddin. Evening service—Opening voluntary Andante with variations by Edmond Baptiste; Psalms single 89; Cantata 19; Dous 21; Hymns 343, 400, 549; Closing vol., Fugue by Adolf Hesse.

COTTAGE RESIDENCE.—The contract for the erection of a cottage residence near Park Hotel, Beacon Hill, for Mr. Jas. Kennedy has been awarded to Mr. R. Franklin.

LATEST FROM SITKA & CASSIAR.

Arrival of the Steamship California with $40,000 in Treasure.

MURDER OF THE TOLL-COLLECTOR AT TELEGRAPH CREEK.

The steamship California, Capt. Thorn, arrived from Sitka and Wrangell at 8 o'clock last evening. She left Alaska August 12th at 5 a.m. Wrangell Wednesday at 2 p.m., and arrived at Nanaimo at 8 a.m. yesterday. She brings a large number of passengers and $40,000 in gold. From a passenger on board we have obtained the following:

ALASKA NEWS.

The quartz mines are looking well. Sitka looks as if it were another place. Merchants are confident and their orders for goods are largely on the increase. Good feeling prevails throughout the whole country. Countess J. D. Hensley of the U. S. S. Jamestown is doing and has done much good. He has been instrumental in establishing a form of civil government, and by many other wise acts has gained the respect and confidence of all. He has made a thorough survey of Sitka harbor and placed buoys and beacons on shoals and rocks.

Collector Ball was elected chief magistrate of the city of Sitka by a large majority.

The officers of the California were hospitably entertained by Father Metropolit on the evening before their departure.

Over four miles of country have been located by miners and the lodges bid fair to equal those of Nevada.

The Cutting Packing Company have put up 7000 cases of salmon, part of which the California has brought down. The Indians remain quiet—the cannons of the Jamestown make them most obedient and respectful.

WRANGELL NEWS.

At Wrangell August 9th an Indian belonging to the Church killed his squaw for reasons unknown. The collector fears he will be troubled unless there is aid sent as the Indians seem to think the whites have had something to do with the trouble or murder above mentioned. Business is picking up, owing partly to the fact that the United States Government has allowed the introduction of malt liquors into Alaska. The Catholic church is nearly completed. It is a very neat building. The Presbyterian Church Association have nearly completed their church and home—the latter for the protection of young Indian women.

CASSIAR NEWS.

Advices received last night from the Cassiar mines state that things are not looking very encouraging there. Defect Creek is being rapidly worked out and it is thought that Porcupine Creek will not last very long, as only three or four claims are paying wages. A large amount of work is being done on Thibert Creek by Chinamen, upwards of 300 of whom are located there. Jas. J. White's "bonanza" has ceased to pay wages and the Chinese are commencing to complain. The greater portion of the lower part of Dease Creek has been wing-dammed by Chinese, who have also purchased Walsh's claim which paid well last year. The reports from McLaughlin Creek are not encouraging. Joe McKenzie, A. McLellan and others have gone to prospect the Takou country where several other parties are already out. Considerable prospecting has been done at the head of Dease Creek with favorable results. The imposition of burdensome taxation, and the manner in which the requirements of the population have been ignored has rendered the Government exceedingly unpopular throughout the entire district.

MURDER AT TELEGRAPH CREEK.

Mr. George Jenkinson, toll collector at Telegraph Creek, was killed by a Fort Wrangel Indian named Johnson on the 19th of July last under the following circumstances: The murderer came to Telegraph Creek two weeks before the murder, leaving his wife at Wrangell. She followed in company with an Alaska Indian. Johnson's jealousy was aroused and he armed himself on the morning of the 19th with two guns, a pistol and a large knife. He arrived at Telegraph Creek at 8½ o'clock in the evening and found his wife in a tent about 20 yards from the toll collector's house. He made her follow him to Casey's cabin, in front of which she sat down and refused to go further. Johnson then cut her on the head with the knife. A man named Morris seized Johnson and a desperate struggle took place, Johnson firing a pistol at Morris and burning his coat, but doing him no injury. Jenkinson ran to Morris' assistance and seized Johnson, who immediately turned on Jenkinson and stabbed him deeply below the last rib on the left side. Morris now got the best of Johnson, threw his pistol into the creek and the desperado after it, and finding that he had received a deep cut in the thigh ran to Harris' saloon, where he sank down exhausted. Jenkinson, meanwhile, had sunk to the ground and died in four minutes after receiving the stab. Three men started to carry the body of Johnson into his house when Johnson re-appeared with two guns, one of which he pointed at the three men, who laid down the body and ran for shelter. Johnson then came over to where the body was lying and stabbed it three times at the navel and once at the right nipple. He was then about to open fire on the crowd across the creek, when a klookman induced him to desist for fear he would kill some of his own friends. He sent her to tell his friends to get out of the way, which they and the whites did. There was only one place in town where a firearm could be had—Mr. Callbreath's—where a revolver was loaded and who lost no time in charging a breech-loading Remington. Johnson shortly afterwards disappeared and the body of poor Jenkinson was borne to his house and prepared for burial.

A canoe was dispatched to Glenora to notify Mr. Lovell, J. P., the only officer within reach, and about two the next morning another canoe started down the river manned by three men who reported to Mr. Lovell and were appointed to arrest the murderer which they did the next morning after a desperate fight in which the murderer was badly wounded and Mr. Normansell barely escaped with his life. Johnson having aimed a desperate blow at him with his knife, ripping open his coat and vest to the skin and this too after the murderer's left arm had been disabled by a gunshot wound. The wretch is now in jail suffering a good deal from his wounds. It is to be hoped that Sir Matthew will make short work of him. The unfortunate man who met his death at the hands of this wretch was the most quiet, inoffensive and kind-hearted person in the town, universally respected by all who knew him. He was a native of Ireland, aged 56 years and leaves a wife and family in this city.

FROM NEW WESTMINSTER.—The steamer Wilson G. Hunt arrived here at 2:30 p.m. yesterday from New Westminster and reports that she experienced very rough weather crossing the Gulf. She brought down 26 head of beef cattle, account of T. Ellis, 100 sheep account of B. Van Volkenburgh, 105 bales of wool for Messrs. Stahlschmidt & Ward, 55,000 shingles for T. G. Moody, and the following passengers:—Miss Howay, Miss McKim, Miss Worth, Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. McInnes, Miss McMurphy, Miss Churton, Miss L. Irving, Miss L. Smith, Johnson, W. H. Kearny, McDougall, T. Wright.

NANAIMO ITEMS.—The Free Press says: The atmosphere in this neighborhood is becoming murky with smoke, a sure indication that large bush fires are raging not very far off. The riflemen are undergoing a course of very careful preparation for the Provincial Association meeting and do not intend to let any other rifle corps carry off a prize without a close contest. W. McGregor, "boss" of the runners in the Douglas mine, had a narrow escape from a severe accident on Tuesday. A piece of coal fell from the roof and struck him on the leg. Fortunately there was soft dross under him, which saved the leg from being broken.

Members of Court Nanaimo Forester's House held a picnic on the banks of Millstream yesterday.

FOR A MONTH ONLY.—Many persons actually require the services of a Dentist, but their resources will not permit of their paying the usual fee. In order to meet the requirements of all such I will from Tuesday, August 19th to September 1st, make full upper or lower sets of teeth on vulcanite or celluloid base for $12 and $15 the plate. Partial plates from $8 to $12. I have secured the services of a first-class assistant in the mechanical department and all work will be finished in the best manner. Terms during the period will be strictly cash.—Dr. W. P. Coote, office and residence, Fort street, opposite Mechanics' Institute. Operating at equally low rates.

THE STEAMSHIP EMPIRE, bound for San Francisco, arrived in the outer harbor yesterday morning, having on board 920 tons of coal from South Wellington colliery and 10 tons of wire rope from Nanaimo. At this port she received 100 barrels and 75 half-barrels of salmon and Wells, Fargo & Co.'s special letter express. At 11:30 a.m. she proceeded on her voyage, the following being amongst her passengers: Capt. Williams (of the wrecked ship Beecherds Ambassadors) and 2 children, Mr. and Mrs. Packard and W. McNulty.

A NEW INDUSTRY.—The world is progressing and nothing is too good for Victoria. Yesterday we tried some of the Parisian bread manufactured by Lucas & Chaperon, Johnson street, and nothing more delicious could be bought on the Boulevards of Paris. Victoria, thanks to those gentlemen, can revel in this luxury, notwithstanding the distance from la Belle France.

FROM THE EAST COAST.—The steamer Caribon-Fly arrived here at 2:30 p.m. yesterday from Nanaimo and East Coast settlements with the mails and following passengers:—Miss Davie, Miss Greenwood, Sisters of St. Ann's, and Messrs. W. Gore, B. Heathcote, J. Perry, E. Stephens, H. Moss, G. Jay, F. Pickens, J. Sears, J. Flett, C. Van Almon and Dr. Willey.

GAZETTED.—Josiah Walter Sterton and Harry Cooper, Esquires, are gazetted justices of the peace and for the electoral district of Nanaimo. Peter Innie, Esq., is appointed a fence viewer in and for the North and South Saanich fence district.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH SOCIAL.—The usual fortnightly entertainment will take place at St. John's Sunday School, Herald street, on Tuesday the 19th inst. Several amateur vocalists and the Amateur Orchestra have kindly volunteered their services. Admission 25 cents.

BEEVES.—Thirty head of fine beef cattle arrived here yesterday per steamer Wilson G. Hunt for Messrs. Goodacre & Dooley of the Queen's market. The beefs came from Mr. T. Ellis' range, Penticton, Okanagan.

The steamer Wilson G. Hunt left here at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon for Nanaimo and New Westminster with a number of passengers on board. She will return to port at eight o'clock to-morrow morning.

REBUILDING.—Mr. R. Franklin, whose house on Craigflower road was recently destroyed by fire, commenced to rebuild on Friday last.

YALE ELECTION.—Nomination is fixed for the 30th inst., and polling for the 29th proximo.

The steamer Isabel arrived in port at 5:20 a.m. yesterday from Nanaimo with 110 tons of V. C. Co's coal on board.

The Danger of Lobbying in the British Parliament.

(Exclusive Dispatch to the Colonist.)

Doubtless the Associated Press, which leaves very little news for poor correspondents to gather up, will have told you some about a "breach of privilege" case which has been causing a good deal of talk. The story is this:—A number of wharfingers doing business on the river-side were anxious to arrest the progress of a certain bill before Parliament, or get it altered to suit their wishes. To them appears a Mr. Grissell, who assures them through their agent that he can get the bill amended to their hearts' desire in committee. He offered to perform this feat for the sum of £2000. This came to the knowledge of the Chairman of the Committee, Lord Henry Lennox, and he brought the matter before the House of Commons and an enquiry was ordered. The result has been that Mr. Grissell and his solicitor have been adjudged guilty of breach of privilege, and will be called to the bar of the House for punishment. It is rather a strange business, and causes more talk privately than you would suppose from merely reading the papers. Was Mr. Grissell merely indulging in a piece of foolish gaudiness when he undertook to control the decision of the committee? The papers have adopted that view, but it is not likely to be accepted by people who know the ins and outs of the affair. To begin with, Mr. Grissell is not a mere street-corner "blower," but a shrewd business man, a member of the firm of Peto & Grissell the same Peto whom your readers may remember figuring in New York in '65 or '66 among the famous party of "British capitalists." At that time, I recollect, my home was at the Clarendon Hotel, and a very comfortable home it was too; and the great Peto was there, living like the Grand Turk. He is not so much of a "British capitalist" now as he was then. As for Mr. Grissell, he seems to be a sort of general agent, and at first sight it may be hard to see how he got mixed up with this Parliament committee. The fact is that he had carried out a year or so ago a little pecuniary transaction for Lord Henry Lennox, who is a good-natured man, but always in a tight place for ready money. Grissell had something to do with raising a loan for him, and appears to have assumed that he could influence his conduct as chairman of the committee in question. He was, of course, mistaken for Lord Henry Lennox is a man of honor, though never knowing exactly where to turn for a five-pound note. He had an office under Government, but was obliged to resign it in consequence of his connection with a public company. He was very unfairly made a scapegoat on that occasion. An impecunious man is always in a scrape of some sort or other, and even if he is not to blame himself other people put him in the wrong by making too free with his name. Thus it has happened now. Grissell's promise to the wharfingers may have seemed the more plausible from the fact that poor Lord Henry was chairman of the committee. Great injustice was done to him, and he has taken effectual means to correct it; but what a position it is, after all, for the son of the Duke of Richmond to be placed in! How unlucky for him that he came into the world second instead of first! To be sure the present Duke (Lord Henry's brother) is not a rich man, having only a trifle under £80,000 a year; but surely something might be done to provide comfortably for the second son of the family. The system under which the elder son takes all and the other children get nothing, or next to nothing, is among the "institutions" which are doomed in England, but when it falls the power of the great families will perish with it. The members of these families know that full well, and therefore are no advocates of the threatened changes, much as they might be benefited if they were carried out. It may be doubted whether even Lord Henry Lennox would like to see Goodwood sold under the hammer and the proceeds divided equally between all the sons of his father.—London cor. N. Y. World.

The Czar.

The Czar is indeed very generous, especially to his personal retainers. One day he found an aide-de-camp who had fallen asleep in an ante-chamber. On the table at which he had been sitting was a schedule of debts which the young officer had drawn up by way of aiding his memory, and a formidable figure they amounted to. "Who on earth is to pay these?" he had written in a despairing way at the foot of the paper. The Emperor took up a pen and lightly wrote the answer, "I, Alexander." By-and-by the officer was sent for, good-humoredly admonished not to sleep on duty, and given the exact sum required to make him a free man. Of course an Imperial purse enables its owner to be liberal; and what ever the Emperor pleases he can theoretically take from the Treasury. But, practically, and for very shame's sake he is limited to the sum he allots himself under the head of "Ministry of the Household." At the same time it must be admitted that he can and does allot himself supplementary votes. In the year 1874, the Emperor's civil list, as we should call it, amounted to 900,000,000 roubles, or £1,350,000. Possibly the Czar would say with Lord Clive, that he stands astonished at his own moderation. Many are the hungry mouths in the palace, and it is pleasant for a sovereign to see smiling faces around him. For this reason the Emperor objects to scolding as well as to saving, facts his Ministers know perfectly well. Occasionally, however, Alexander making up his mind that an irksome task has to be performed, sets bravely to work. Tired of sham inspections of barracks, he once resolved on a real one. Coming without a moment's previous notice, he saw a good many things which opened his eyes; and to his credit be it said, he appeared deeply pained. He said sadly on this occasion: "I ought to be able to inspect all the barracks in my Empire in this fashion, but how am I to do so? It would not be of much use if His Majesty did, for he would be very unwilling to introduce reforms if they displeased the Palace; and as to dismissing, cashiering, &c., such processes are excessively distasteful to him, and spoil his appetite for dinner. At one time, by the way, the Emperor was a genial epicure, and very fond of "little supper parties." His favorite beverage was champagne. Now he is obliged to resort to different "cures" (grape-cure, milk-cure, &c.) and to drink more mineral waters than wine. He lives very simply indeed, too, now; and is much given to lonely strolls, or to walk with a single intimate friend for his companion. Day by day too, he becomes more devout. With an immense sense of his own personal dignity the Czar is very far from pretentiousness or undue self-assertion. At the Tuileries in 1867 he always wished to take the pas to the King of Prussia, who however insisted on according it to the Czar, saying laughingly: "You are an Emperor and I am only a king." After the marriage of the Duchess of Edinburgh, when it is notorious that there were great "searching of hearts" in high quarters, touching the relative merits of Royal and Imperial Highnesses, Alexander was much troubled; not that he considered the matter one of much importance himself but he is fond of his daughter, and her Imperial highness held the question to be one of a vital nature. The Emperor, however, induced the Duchess to abate something of her claims. The Emperor shows to much advantage in court ceremonies, and has a very nice perception of what etiquette prescribes in "hard cases." At Ems an interview was got up between himself and the Comte de Paris. His Majesty wore no Order on the occasion, but sported a tri-colored cravat, the reason being that the Comte de Paris has never received the Legion of Honor, and therefore it was possible to compliment him by wearing it. Moreover, there would have been the further difficulty that the Czar might have offended the French Government by wearing any but the Republican form of the decoration. At the same time the tri-color was at once a compliment to France and to the heir of the Monarchy of July. Whether the Czar would don a white tie if he had to call on the Comte de Chambord, deponent knoweth not. Once, and once only, the Czar well-nigh forgot his high dignity at a State reception; but the occasion was certainly a trying one. The Marquis of L.—a gallant soldier, who distinguished himself under Wellington, was presented by Alexandra I. of Russia with a magnificent jeweled sword. Another Marquis or L.—(his son) being accredited to the Court of Alexandra II., on a very solemn diplomatic mission, girded himself with this sword, as was reasonable and even meritorious. But some mischievous spirit prompted him to suddenly lay his hand on the hilt, and addressing the Czar before all the Court, he exclaimed: "Voicile sabre de mon pere." It was said with perfect gravity, the noble envoy never having apparently heard of the "Grand Duchesse." But Alexander's lips twitched; and the lips of all the chamberlains and equestrians twitched in unison. The Czar triumphed, however, and managed to keep his countenance. And all the courtiers kept their countenances.—From Anecdotal Photographs in "Truth."

Cruelty to Russian Monks.

A lurid and ghastly light is thrown upon monkish life in Russia by the Molra, a journal published in St. Petersburg. In a recent issue it printed an article headed "Monastery Secrets," whence we extract the following strange story, the details of which are stated to have been confirmed in every respect by evidence collected in the course of an official enquiry, terminated a few weeks ago. The monks of the Lebiadyn Cloister addressed a petition to the Holy Consistory of their province, complaining of the barbarous and inhuman treatment they have undergone at the hands of their Prior, Father Isidore. This ferocious ecclesiastic, ever since his accession to office, has done little else but torture his subordinate brethren, cuffing, beating, and starving them without mercy. He has thrashed their naked backs with a knotted cudgel and with a massive silver crucifix, and caused them to be flogged with rods by "lay brothers" until they have become insensible from pain and loss of blood. He has shut them up in dark cellars, where they have been left without food or water for so long as three successive days and nights at a stretch. One monk was flayed to death by his orders, and two more died of starvation. Two hanged themselves, two drowned themselves, and one cut his throat, driven to despair by his superior's relentless brutality. All those tortures are alleged in the petition to have been inflicted by Father Isidore upon monks who refused to act as panders between him and the female members of the congregation attending service in the church of the monastery. The Prior spent the revenues of the brotherhood in every description of debauchery, and any remonstrance upon the part of the monks drew down upon them the most horrible punishments. The attention of the Czar is said to have been called to the tragedy of Lebiadyn, and it is expected that His Majesty will order a searching and exhaustive investigation into the actual state of Russian monastic establishments to be instituted as soon as the repressive measures now being enforced to put down the revolutionary movement shall have restored order and tranquillity to his empire.

(Per Steamer Isabel.)

A singular incident occurred at the Worcester Assizes in England the other day: A man named Ballard, who had been convicted of attempting to cut his sweetheart's throat, came up for sentence. The wound was not dangerous, and there were some very peculiar circumstances connected with the case. The prosecutrix, in answer to Mr. Justice Hawkins, said she was quite willing to marry the prisoner if he was set at liberty, and the prisoner also expressed his willingness; the judge said he hoped he was doing right in simply ordering him to enter into recognizances. This having been done the couple left the court amid the applause of the people in court.

A singular case of homicide was lately tried at Spoleti, Italy. The accused was a rich farmer named Carlo Maroniti, and his offence was shooting a doctor who had failed to cure his child. When the child, a boy of fourteen months, fell ill, the farmer sent for the doctor and told him that if his treatment was successful he would pay him 2000 lire (about $400), but that if the child died he would kill him. The doctor undertook the case, but his medicines seemed to aggravate the disease, and death ensued. A few days after the funeral the farmer lay in wait for the unfortunate practitioner and shot him. The Court gave the lenient sentence of ten years' imprisonment and 25,000 lire fine.

American Mail.

The Rev. G. K. Scott, a young and handsome Baptist, assisted in a religious revival at Boston, Ky. He is a fine singer as well as a fluent speaker, and has often been called from his home in Louisville as an evangelist. After an evening meeting at Boston he escorted two young ladies to their home, all three riding on horseback. John Goodwin and James Griggs say that they followed at a little distance, and saw the reverend gentleman kiss one of the ladies. They could not keep the secret long, and when Scott learned that they had told it he threw a gun across his shoulder and hunted them. He found Goodwin first, and told him that he must retract or be shot; but Goodwin refused to retract, and the arrival of a constable saved him from being shot. Then he started for Griggs' house, but was arrested.

THE KISS OF A SERPENT FATAL.—A correspondent in Lafourche Parish guarantees the truth of the following details:—Near the "Cut-off," M. Lambasse and his son both fell a victim to snake-bite under the following circumstances:—Lambasse and his son Bibi were serpent charmers, who cared as little for rattlesnakes as they would for turtle doves. They were constantly surrounded by their venomous pets, serpents, the most deadly species, with which they played fearlessly. Last Sunday Bibi, who had a magnificent rattlesnake, tried to sell it to one of his friends. For this purpose he took it out of a barrel where it was kept, and, in order to show his skill, tried to make the reptile "kiss him." The serpent, unwilling to grant the caress desired, ended by becoming so enraged that he bit his charmer's tongue, and also his left arm. Immediately afterward, Bibi's father took the serpent in his hands, and tried to show those present that his son had acted clumsily, or was a charmer of a much inferior character to himself. So saying, he put the head of the hideous creature in his mouth. The serpent bit him also. Father and son were both attacked with frightful pains shortly after, and their bodies became horribly swollen. They died in excruciating tortures.—New Orleans Democrat.
